

Social Media Evidence Report - Reddit

Platform: Reddit

Username: spez

Data Type: User Profile

Date: 2025-06-02 16:19:42

The screenshot displays the Reddit user profile for 'spez'. The interface is in dark mode. On the left is a sidebar with navigation links: Home, Popular, Answers (marked BETA), and a list of topics including Internet Culture (Viral), Games, Q&As, Technology, Pop Culture, and Movies & TV. The main content area shows the user's profile with a custom avatar of a character in a space suit, the username 'spez', and the display name 'u/spez'. Below the profile are tabs for Overview, Posts, and Comments. The Overview tab is active, showing a post from 'r/ProductManagement' where 'spez ADMIN' commented 3 days ago. The comment discusses currency conversion issues on the Apple website. To the right of the profile, a summary shows 'spez' as the 'Reddit CEO' with 178,811 post karma and 751,791 comment karma. It also lists communities moderated by 'spez': r/announcements (304M members), r/blog (19M members), and r/programming (6.8M members). The top of the page features the Reddit logo, a search bar with 'u/spez' entered, and buttons for 'Get App' and 'Log In'.

reddit

u/spez Search in u/spez

Get App Log In

Home Popular Answers BETA

TOPICS

- Internet Culture (Viral)
- Games
- Q&As
- Technology
- Pop Culture
- Movies & TV

See more

RESOURCES

- About Reddit

spez u/spez

Follow Start Chat

Reddit CEO

178,811 Post karma 751,791 Comment karma

Jun 6, 2005 Cake day

MODERATOR OF THESE COMMUNITIES

- r/announcements 304M members Join
- r/blog 19M members Join
- r/programming 6.8M members Join

View more

TROPHY CASE

Overview Posts Comments

New

r/ProductManagement • Reddit PMs: how come buying 300 gold is more expensive than buying 3 x 100?

spez ADMIN commented 3 days ago

Looked into this. The issue is with how certain payment providers handle currency conversions. While we set a base price in USD, the provider applies their own conversion logic, factoring things like FX rates and regional tax treatments. Apple, in particular, also rounds the result up to a presentational price, which can cause noticeable jumps especially at higher price points. We're in the process of manually overriding these conversions to fix this.

13 Reply Share

r/TheoryOfReddit • What is the future of multilingual Reddit?

reddit

u/spez

Search in u/spez

Get App

Log In

Home

Popular

Answers BETA

TOPICS

Internet Culture (Viral)

Games

Q&As

Technology

Pop Culture

Movies & TV

See more

RESOURCES

About Reddit

spez

u/spez

Overview

Posts

Comments

New

r/ProductManagement

•

Reddit PMs: how come buying 300 gold is more expensive than buying 3 x 100?

spez ADMIN

commented 3 days ago

Looked into this. The issue is with how certain payment providers handle currency conversions. While we set a base price in USD, the provider applies their own conversion logic, factoring things like FX rates and regional tax treatments. Apple, in particular, also rounds the result up to a presentational price, which can cause noticeable jumps especially at higher price points. We're in the process of manually overriding these conversions to fix this.

13

↓

Reply

Share

...

r/TheoryOfReddit

•

What is the future of multilingual Reddit?

spez

Reddit CEO

Follow

Start Chat

178,811

Post karma

751,791

Comment karma

Jun 6, 2005

Cake day

MODERATOR OF THESE COMMUNITIES

r/announcements

304M members

Join

r/blog

19M members

Join

r/programming

6.8M members

Join

View more

TROPHY CASE

reddit

u/spez

Search in u/spez

Get App

Log In

Home

Popular

Answers BETA

TOPICS

Internet Culture (Viral)

Games

Q&As

Technology

Pop Culture

Movies & TV

See more

RESOURCES

About Reddit

r/TheoryOfReddit

•

What is the future of multilingual Reddit?

spez ADMIN

commented 5 days ago

In the long run, I think there are a couple possible directions:

A subreddit is single language and single culture (Most of Reddit historically, and a lot of Reddit today you may not see at all because it's not English). r/AskUK might be an example.

-or-

A subreddit is translated into multiple languages but within a single culture / theme (I think this is what you're describing in this post). r/AskReddit is mostly English, but the theme—answer interesting questions—is cross-cultural, and even without translation you see people from all over the world spending time together in the same space.

I think the answer is both over time, and probably some shades of grey in the middle. Regardless of where things land in the long run, there are two pieces of technology that are important: translation, which we are working on and is getting better and better, and a way for subreddits to gracefully subdivide, which we don't have a good solution for yet.

12

↓

Reply

Share

...

u/spez

•

Reddit's next chapter: smarter, easier, still human spez OP replied to shiruken 27 days ago

Regulation: We do our best to advocate for good Internet laws in the US and around the world. For example, we spent a lot of time with regulators around the world on age verification. Knowing they were going to 100% make an age verification law, we fought and continue to fight to make sure that platforms like Reddit will not be required ever see, let

spez

Reddit CEO

Follow

Start Chat

178,811

Post karma

751,791

Comment karma

Jun 6, 2005

Cake day

MODERATOR OF THESE COMMUNITIES

r/announcements

304M members

Join

r/blog

19M members

Join

r/programming

6.8M members

Join

View more

TROPHY CASE

reddit

Q

u/spez

Search in u/spez

Get App

Log In

...

Home

Popular

Answers BETA

TOPICS

Internet Culture (Viral)

Games

Q&As

Technology

Pop Culture

Movies & TV

See more

RESOURCES

About Reddit

verification. Knowing they were going to 100% make an age verification law, we fought and continue to fight to make sure that platforms like Reddit will not be required ever see, let alone store, your ID. I don't want your ID to ever pass through our infrastructure. The only way to make sure your ID will never be used, viewed, hacked, or subpoenaed is to never have it in the first place. We tell the regulators that it requires a certain sophistication to even know you're being hacked, and even still, everyone will get hacked eventually, so don't make every company be a target for hackers.

CSS: Custom CSS did a lot of things, but making subreddits prettier was not one of them.

Edit: typo

12

...

Reply

Share

...

u/spez • Reddit's next chapter: smarter, easier, still human

spez ADMIN replied to Georgy_K_Zhukov 27 days ago

Reddit Answers is not a replacement for conversations. It's a replacement for post + comment based searching. While traditional post-based searching is getting better on Reddit, it will always be something of a hassle. Reddit Answers is simply better—even in the first version—at mining all of Reddit, synthesizing the results, and showing not just an answer, but lots of possible answers. And since it mostly responds with verbatim quotes from Reddit comments, you can go directly to the right conversation. It's also an effective way to discover new subreddits—better than just about anything else we have for that so far. I asked it, "what's the best reading order for discworld?" and beyond the answer, it also recommended r/books, r/discworld, and r/Fantasy.

9

...

Reply

Share

...

spez

Follow

Start Chat

Reddit CEO

178,811

Post karma

751,791

Comment karma

Jun 6, 2005

Cake day

MODERATOR OF THESE COMMUNITIES

r/announcements

304M members

Join

r/blog

19M members

Join

r/programming

6.8M members

Join

View more

TROPHY CASE

reddit

u/spez

Search in u/spez

Get App

Log In

Home

Popular

Answers BETA

TOPICS

Internet Culture (Viral)

Games

Q&As

Technology

Pop Culture

Movies & TV

See more

RESOURCES

About Reddit

u/spez • Reddit's next chapter: smarter, easier, still human

spez ADMIN replied to loamy 28 days ago

Longer term bots will continue to be welcome as long as they are labeled as such. I even think there is a roll for AI agent bots, as long as it's super clear what it is and subreddits have control over whether they are allowed or not. The solution to most things is transparency and intentionality. Transparency means it should be labeled, and intentionality means it should be optional.

29

Reply

Share

u/spez • Reddit's next chapter: smarter, easier, still human

spez ADMIN replied to nate 28 days ago

We continually update with minor changes and bug fixes. If you send me specific issues you're hitting, big or small, we will take a look.

Longer term, we are exploring a larger refresh to address things like the insane clunkiness between feed->video->comments.

18

Reply

Share

u/spez • Reddit's next chapter: smarter, easier, still human

spez ADMIN replied to LinearArray 28 days ago

What did you prefer about new reddit (aka slightly old reddit)? shreddit (aka new new reddit) is much easier to adapt.

46

Reply

Share

spez

Follow

Start Chat

Reddit CEO

178,811 Post karma

751,791 Comment karma

Jun 6, 2005 Cake day

MODERATOR OF THESE COMMUNITIES

r/announcements

304M members

Join

r/blog

19M members

Join

r/programming

6.8M members

Join

View more

TROPHY CASE

reddit

u/spez

Search in u/spez

Get App

Log In

Home

Popular

Answers BETA

TOPICS

Internet Culture (Viral)

Games

Q&As

Technology

Pop Culture

Movies & TV

See more

RESOURCES

About Reddit

spez

Overview

Posts

Comments

New

r/ProductManagement • Reddit PMs: how come buying 300 gold is more expensive than buying 3 x 100?

spez ADMIN commented 3 days ago

Looked into this. The issue is with how certain payment providers handle currency conversions. While we set a base price in USD, the provider applies their own conversion logic, factoring things like FX rates and regional tax treatments. Apple, in particular, also rounds the result up to a presentational price, which can cause noticeable jumps especially at higher price points. We're in the process of manually overriding these conversions to fix this.

13

Reply

Share

r/TheoryOfReddit • What is the future of multilingual Reddit?

spez

Follow

Start Chat

Reddit CEO

178,811 Post karma

751,791 Comment karma

Jun 6, 2005 Cake day

MODERATOR OF THESE COMMUNITIES

r/announcements

304M members

Join

r/blog

19M members

Join

r/programming

6.8M members

Join

View more

TROPHY CASE

u/spez

Search in u/spez

Get App

Log In

Home

Popular

Answers BETA

TOPICS

Internet Culture (Viral)

Games

Q&As

Technology

Pop Culture

Movies & TV

See more

RESOURCES

About Reddit

r/TheoryOfReddit • What is the future of multilingual Reddit?

spez ADMIN commented 5 days ago

In the long run, I think there are a couple possible directions:

A subreddit is single language and single culture (Most of Reddit historically, and a lot of Reddit today you may not see at all because it's not English). r/AskUK might be an example.

-or-

A subreddit is translated into multiple languages but within a single culture / theme (I think this is what you're describing in this post). r/AskReddit is mostly English, but the theme—answer interesting questions—is cross-cultural, and even without translation you see people from all over the world spending time together in the same space.

I think the answer is both over time, and probably some shades of grey in the middle. Regardless of where things land in the long run, there are two pieces of technology that are important: translation, which we are working on and is getting better and better, and a way for subreddits to gracefully subdivide, which we don't have a good solution for yet.

12

Reply

Share

u/spez • Reddit's next chapter: smarter, easier, still human spez OP replied to shiruken 27 days ago

Regulation: We do our best to advocate for good Internet laws in the US and around the world. For example, we spent a lot of time with regulators around the world on age verification. Knowing they were going to 100% make an age verification law, we fought and continue to fight to make sure that platforms like Reddit will not be required ever see, let

spez

Follow

Start Chat

Reddit CEO

178,811

Post karma

751,791

Comment karma

Jun 6, 2005

Cake day

MODERATOR OF THESE COMMUNITIES

r/announcements

304M members

Join

r/blog

19M members

Join

r/programming

6.8M members

Join

View more

TROPHY CASE

reddit

u/spez

Search in u/spez

Get App

Log In

Home

Popular

Answers BETA

TOPICS

Internet Culture (Viral)

Games

Q&As

Technology

Pop Culture

Movies & TV

See more

RESOURCES

About Reddit

verification. knowing they were going to 100% make an age verification law, we fought and continue to fight to make sure that platforms like Reddit will not be required ever see, let alone store, your ID. I don't want your ID to ever pass through our infrastructure. The only way to make sure your ID will never be used, viewed, hacked, or subpoenaed is to never have it in the first place. We tell the regulators that it requires a certain sophistication to even know you're being hacked, and even still, everyone will get hacked eventually, so don't make every company be a target for hackers.

CSS: Custom CSS did a lot of things, but making subreddits prettier was not one of them.

Edit: typo

12

Reply

Share

...

u/spez • Reddit's next chapter: smarter, easier, still human

spez ADMIN replied to Georgy_K_Zhukov 27 days ago

Reddit Answers is not a replacement for conversations. It's a replacement for post + comment based searching. While traditional post-based searching is getting better on Reddit, it will always be something of a hassle. Reddit Answers is simply better—even in the first version—at mining all of Reddit, synthesizing the results, and showing not just an answer, but lots of possible answers. And since it mostly responds with verbatim quotes from Reddit comments, you can go directly to the right conversation. It's also an effective way to discover new subreddits—better than just about anything else we have for that so far. I asked it, "what's the best reading order for discworld?" and beyond the answer, it also recommended r/books, r/discworld, and r/Fantasy.

9

Reply

Share

...

spez

Follow

Start Chat

Reddit CEO

178,811

Post karma

751,791

Comment karma

Jun 6, 2005

Cake day

MODERATOR OF THESE COMMUNITIES

r/announcements

304M members

Join

r/blog

19M members

Join

r/programming

6.8M members

Join

View more

TROPHY CASE

reddit

u/spez

Search in u/spez

Get App

Log In

Home

Popular

Answers BETA

TOPICS

Internet Culture (Viral)

Games

Q&As

Technology

Pop Culture

Movies & TV

See more

RESOURCES

About Reddit

u/spez • Reddit's next chapter: smarter, easier, still human

spez ADMIN replied to loamy 28 days ago

Longer term bots will continue to be welcome as long as they are labeled as such. I even think there is a roll for AI agent bots, as long as it's super clear what it is and subreddits have control over whether they are allowed or not. The solution to most things is transparency and intentionality. Transparency means it should be labeled, and intentionality means it should be optional.

29

Reply

Share

...

u/spez • Reddit's next chapter: smarter, easier, still human

spez ADMIN replied to nate 28 days ago

We continually update with minor changes and bug fixes. If you send me specific issues you're hitting, big or small, we will take a look.

Longer term, we are exploring a larger refresh to address things like the insane clunkiness between feed->video->comments.

18

Reply

Share

...

u/spez • Reddit's next chapter: smarter, easier, still human

spez ADMIN replied to LinearArray 28 days ago

What did you prefer about new reddit (aka slightly old reddit)? shreddit (aka new new reddit) is much easier to adapt.

46

Reply

Share

...

spez

Follow

Start Chat

Reddit CEO

178,811

Post karma

751,791

Comment karma

Jun 6, 2005

Cake day

MODERATOR OF THESE COMMUNITIES

r/announcements

304M members

Join

r/blog

19M members

Join

r/programming

6.8M members

Join

View more

TROPHY CASE

u/spez

Search in u/spez

Get App

Log In

Home

Popular

Answers BETA

TOPICS

Internet Culture (Viral)

Games

Q&As

Technology

Pop Culture

Movies & TV

See more

RESOURCES

About Reddit

spez

u/spez

Overview

Posts

Comments

New

r/ProductManagement

Reddit PMs: how come buying 300 gold is more expensive than buying 3 x 100?

spez ADMIN

commented 3 days ago

Looked into this. The issue is with how certain payment providers handle currency conversions. While we set a base price in USD, the provider applies their own conversion logic, factoring things like FX rates and regional tax treatments. Apple, in particular, also rounds the result up to a presentational price, which can cause noticeable jumps especially at higher price points. We're in the process of manually overriding these conversions to fix this.

13

Reply

Share

spez

Reddit CEO

178,811

Post karma

751,791

Comment karma

Jun 6, 2005

Cake day

MODERATOR OF THESE COMMUNITIES

r/announcements

304M members

Join

r/blog

19M members

Join

r/programming

6.8M members

Join

View more

TROPHY CASE